

TO THE CITIZENS OF EDMONTON:-

Pursuant to a resolution of the City Council, the following statement is submitted regarding the financial condition of the City of Edmonton in relation to the proposed Consolidation of the City and why it is necessary to obtain some relief in taxation?

Ans.- Briefly, the financial condition is that the City ended the year 1936 with a bank overdraft of more than $180,000. The tax rates of 53 mills imposed in each of the years 1935 and 1936 proved quite inadequate to meet the necessary expenditures, hence the overdraft. The bank officials notified the city in October last that it would be unable to permit the city to increase the tax rate, and as a consequence it is necessary in 1937 to levy for the whole of the expenditures, and unless the proposed plan is adopted, or other methods not at present in sight, any available, it will mean a tax levy of approximately 75 mills to accomplish this. Under the present plan, the City budget at $30 to $50 million, and in addition, give a large amount of employment to our citizens who are in need of it.

Q. 2-How was the present condition of the city brought about?

Ans.- In a number of ways:-
1. By the loss of, or reduced revenue power of practically the whole population during the past seven years.
2. By the extra expense caused by the depression, chiefly the unemployment relief, which cost for the city's share $704,513.10 in 1936, and a total of almost $3,000,000 since its inception in 1930.
3. By the loss in assessed value of property, and the reduced number of taxpayers.
4. By having to capitalize $1,200,000 of capital expenditures at an annual cost of $17,800 in capital charges.

Q. 3-Is the Fortin proposal the only way out of the difficulty?

Ans.- In the opinion of the majority of the City Council, yes.

Q. 4-On what grounds was this decision arrived at?

Ans.- After prolonged negotiations with the Bondholders' representative, and after intensive and exhaustive study of the situation by the City Council, and officials, together with representatives of both the Public and Separate School Boards, the elimination of many municipalities, the changing of the City limits to suit Edmonton's peculiar needs, a critical analysis of alternatives suggested, it is the opinion of the majority of the City Council that the plan offered by the Fortin plan offers a practical solution to many of the difficulties confronting the City.

Q. 5-What are some of the reasons contained in the plan?

Ans.- Not the least is the immediate availability of sufficient funds to modernize and enlarge the various utilities, particularly the sewer and telephone systems, and to provide for the future needs to be reminded of the urgent necessity of additional utility for the production and assurance of the supply of power. This is the only way in which the City can meet the needs of the future. The need is most urgent, and no other known source is open.
It provides funds for a Public Works program of a very large nature, including the clearing of streets and drains, the widening of sidewalks and other local improvements, erecting of buildings, all of which will alleviate the unemployment situation, and reduce the cost of relief.
It meets the most urgent need of immediate relief to the tax rate, the extent of the increase being $1.00 per $100 of assessed value, with an increase in revenue from utilities of a further $135,000 in the present year, increasing in the years to come, making it possible to carry on the City's operations with a possible slight reduction in the mill rate, and furthermore, will vitimize many of the city's service funds, from which further improvements can be made.
Under the existing plan, the city can redeem its indebtedness only as the bonds mature, and by the year 1940, will be $175,000 under the proposed plan the city can call and cancel the whole or part of the remaining bonds at any time.
There is an immediate reduction of approximately $550,000 of the debt. The release of the balance of the sinking funds to the City's disposal, $575,000, will further reduce the City's indebtedness.

Q. 6-What alternatives to the Fortin plan were studied by the Council?

Ans.- Several alternatives were studied, and the following are the most important:-
(a) New Taxes-Unless these can be devised to relieve today's taxpayers they will be too late.
(b) Redistribution of the tax burden-Something will eventually be done in this way, and efforts are already under way to broaden the base of the tax burden.
(c) Cutting interest on the City's debt-This would put the City in default, with the result of a further increase in the mill rate.
(d) Suspension of payments to Sinking Fund-Suspension of Sinking Fund is merely the passing on to posterity the payment of our present debt, and the result is a further increase in the mill rate.
(e) Use of present funds for the relief of taxpayers-This is the most urgent need of the City, and the result is a further increase in the mill rate.

Q. 7-It is true that the annual amount of the annuity, $127,000, will be paid for 30 years.

Ans.- Yes, in neither case, but the annuity will be paid for the whole period of 30 years.
In the first place the tax rate of 53 mills mentioned as being proposed for 1937 contains an item of 24 mills for contingencies, which item did not appear in the 1936 and 1935 tax rates. Secondly, the amount of $127,000 is the annuity figure on the remaining debt of $4,444,444 after cancellation of the city's own bonds, but as the City has a large amount of its own bonds, the annuity of $127,000 will be reduced to an annual figure of $1,414,444 as and when the outside bonds in the Sinking Fund are liquidated, an annual saving of approximately $1 million. Still further reductions will be made from year to year as the province's 5% and 5 1/2% bond reach maturity, the result being a further reduction of the annuity under this heading being in the neighborhood of $2,500,000 in ten years reaching a figure of $1,400,000. The study of the City's 28 mills addition, if the amount of $127,000 were maintained would be in the year 1940, and would be a further 28 mills within less than 22 years, or by 1950, as against 1937 under the existing arrangement of a Sinking Fund Plan.

Q. 8-What are the tax rates of the City of Edmonton?

Ans.- The Bondholders were requested by the City to send a representative to examine its affairs, with a view to ascertaining whether or not in interest to them to acquire the City's bonds. It had been granted, a net saving of only $314,500 would have resulted, or approximately $1 million, which would have meant a 50 mill rate in 1937, and a further 28 mills in 1940. The study of the plan revealed two incontrovertible facts:-
1. That the tax rate of 53 mills is the average, has collected more taxes than the full annual levy, and
2. That the profits from the utilities, which were established with money borrowed from the City, and the interest on the interest paid by the city on the whole of the General Debt, the figures for 1936 are:-
Profits from the Utilities (after paying interest) $1,260,600.30
Total interest on the General Debt 1,260,600.30
Net excess of profits over interest ..... $ 643,434.04

Q. 9-What is the situation of the City of Edmonton?

Ans.- In this situation the Bondholders refused to concede either a full or partial interest in the City for reduced interest, despite the repeated urging of the Council.
They nevertheless recognized that Edmonton, along with practically all Western municipalities, was in a desperate financial straits, and the result was the plan placed before the Council, and was accepted by the Council with negotiation. The main features and advantages of the plan are:-
Change from Sinking Fund (with possible losses from investments) to the annuity plan, with consequent reduction of the present annual interest of $1,400,000.
The cancellation of the City's own bonds now held by the Board amounting to $5,425,000.
The right to use the proceeds from the sale of the outside securities in the Sinking Fund for the purposes before mentioned is a very valuable consideration, as the City's tax money would not have been available otherwise with the Bondholders' consent.

CANADIAN CLUB TAKEN ON TOUR OF VAST EMPIRE

Members of the Canadian Club went on a leisurely tour of the Empire Monday as Dr. David Laing, of Pittsburgh, who makes globe-trotting his hobby, took them into his confidence about experiences he had had in Canada's sister dominions.

Evidently Canada hasn't got it all her own way, by impressions created by the speaker as any indication of New Zealand, for instance, has it all the practical folk of the west when it comes to eat cabbage, and the exquisite mincey life in London.

But Canadians know the value of comfort. Hotels in this country, according to Dr. Laing, are substantially superior to those in Australia and New Zealand. Perhaps the fact that he was speaking in the Macdonald hotel had something to do with this charitable comment.

Anyway, Dr. Laing thought it would be an item of Empire solidarity if the scattered units of the Commonwealth got acquainted with one another. Diversified but united, storehouse of history and the magic of British expansion overseas, these different people have much to teach each other, he claimed, and still more to teach the world.

Burglars Active In Calgary At Weekend
CALGARY, March 16.—House and store burglars obtained more than $1,000 in loot here during the weekend. Jewel thefts totalled $875, including a necklace and bracelet valued at $400 from the home of E. A. Freeman.

RIALTO
Many motion picture stars have boarded piers—once a duke or so—but RKO-Radio goes there all two better by co-starring a king and queen in the musical comedy, "The Day Divorced," showing at the Rialto Wednesday.

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, already famous, have been teamed up by public acclaim, as the "King and Queen of Carols," because it is said to combine beauty and sport, and it is also well within the capabilities of young and old.

Made and lyrics for "The Continental" are the work of Con Conrad and Herb Magidson, authors of the current novelty song, "Yes, I Love You Daughter," Conrad wrote "Champagne Blues" which his money can buy everything but love in the stirring turf drama, "Racing Lady," the second feature of the Rialto, bill starting tomorrow.

Ann Dvorak, Harry Carey and Smith Bailey are co-featured. When Smith Bailey, a handsome young financier, wanted a thoroughbred horse that belonged to Ann Dvorak, he bought it, and when he wanted her, he bought her. But he discovered he wanted her more than anything, and the price on that was a true sense of sportiveness, something he didn't know very much about.

The free danceware offer, they perform continue today, Wednesday and Thursday.

STRAND

The lobby of Warner Grand, who again plays Charlie Chan in the new Twentieth Century-Fox picture, opening Wednesday at the Strand theatre, "Charlie Chan at the Opera," is Chinese and Japanese.

Capital theatre management last night waived its usual Monday night community sing in order to accommodate the hockey fans who are expected to come from the arena. The regular sing now will be held next Monday and Manager Wilson promises some extraordinary surprises in his grab bag of features at this event.

IRISH TOWNS ISOLATED BY HEAVY SNOWS

Most Severe March Since 1917 Felt Across Great Britain

LONDON, March 16.—Snow isolated most of the villages and towns in northern Ireland last night as the most severe March weather since 1917 swept Britain. Rain and sleet pounded east and southwest England.

Roads became impassable in numerous places in Ireland and several towns were marooned. One farmer froze to death. A 15-mile highway was open between Dublin and Scotland but heavy snowdrifts blocked mountain roads in Wales.

DYKES WATCHED

Belmont reported thousands of gallons of milk from Scotland to have a shortage. Floods threatened in the Fensland district of Cambridge-shire where a patrol of 200 men kept day and night vigil along the banks of the swollen Ouse.

Greenwich weather observers reported more rain had fallen during the first three months of 1937 than in any similar period in 125 years.

PARIS, March 16.—France counted five deaths today in the first of spring storms.

Tweedsmuir Sick, Plans Cancelled

OTTAWA, March 16.—Owing to a sudden illness, the plans of the late General Lord Tweedsmuir, who had been invited to attend the opening of the new Parliament building, have been cancelled at government request.

He will be unable to attend the celebration of the centennial of the Institute of Mining and Metallurgy in Montreal Wednesday.

The first geodetic survey in the United States was made in 1811 by Simon Dens.

One act, fostered, he declares, by his numerous screen appearances as the Criminal Detective.

Boris Karloff is co-starred with Quaid in this new Chan mystery, which is being hailed as the most exciting and thrilling series of the thrilling series. The cast also features Kake, Charlie Herbie, Frankie Burke and Margaret Lister.

He, Bruce Humphreys directed the film, with John Stone as his associate producer, Scott Darling and Charles S. Reizen as executive producer.

Part Hair In Centre If Face Heart-Shaped

By GLADYS GLAD

It was back in the days of the beautiful Princess, that Pugin was won by John Alden for Miles Standish and won by John Alden for himself, that the center part as a coiffure style was first adopted in a big way. During recent years, you know, the center part has been more or less in the discard, but according to hair stylists, it is to enjoy a revival this spring.

Individuality is the keynote of present day hair styles. Jean Parker often adopts a center part when arranging her coiffure. She likes, of course, to vary her hair arrangement from time to time, but because of the heart shape of her face and the regularity of her features, she finds a center part usually the most becoming.

CHANGE HAIR PARTING

Of course, practically all women have rather individualistic coiffures, but if you wish to get an idea of how to change the average non-professional woman's coiffure, look around at some of the women you know, and note the way in which they part their locks. You'll find, probably, very few who do not part their tresses on the side. For most women, once they adopt a certain part, never think of trying a different one. But hairdressers claim that it's a wise thing, ordinarily, to change the parting of the hair occasionally. Change the part, they maintain, has a certain stimulating effect on the circulation in the scalp. The blood circulation, in turn, promotes slugs, when the hair is continually parted in the same place all the time. And, of good hair health, the circulation of the blood in the scalp should be brisk and vigorous, so that the hair follicles will be given plenty of nourishment.

As I told you previously, the center part has been more or less in the discard for quite some time. Most women wearing side parts, but since our new styles demand that we appear demure and romantically feminine, the center part has been restored to favor. Of course, it stands to reason that the center part will not prove becoming to everyone. Naturally,

JEAN PARKER
Center part becoming to her.

If your features are of the delicate, dainty type, a center part will flatter you. And the tall girl will appear even taller if she adopts it. Mother Should Never Interfere When Father Is Just in Disciplining the Children.

She May Lose Her Husband's Love

DEAR MISS DIX—My sister and her husband are having difficulties over their children. He is a high-type, successful man, a good father and devoted to his children. Like any father who undertakes to keep up with children, he requires them to study, to do their share around the house, to live within their allowances, etc., but he occasionally has trouble with them. Nothing serious, just the usual conflict with youngsters. He has a few minutes, usually in the evening, when he sits down with all over and the children are hanging around his father, for they are very fond of him. But my sister always turns herself into the dispute on the side. She protests the father's discipline and tries to make them feel that he is cruel and that they are being persecuted. Naturally, my sister's attitude sends his wife's attitude. He is losing respect for her, and I am sure that they have been to drift apart. What is your opinion, and can you suggest a remedy?

ANSWER: My opinion is that your sister is committing a crime, for which she will have to pay, in all probability, by losing her husband and leaving her children grown up into being the usual youngsters who bring shame and sorrow on their parents. But I have no reason to suggest whereby she may be brought to see what a mistake she is making. Nothing can cure a silly mother who has lost her will.

Unfortunately, your sister is not alone in her folly. There are millions like her. Women who are so benefited by their mother love that they cannot see that their children have a single fault, or bear to have them corrected. They let them grow up overbearing, ill-mannered, and without any respect for their parents. They are sure that their children are old grumps because they object to Johnny breaking "four windows when he is in a playful mood. They are sure that Tommy's teachers give him bad marks because they have a spite against the little school that Bobby doesn't mean anything when he is caught spilling cream from the fruit stand on the corner.

They are so weak they let their children run roughshod over them. They never discipline their children or teach them to control their anger. They let them grow up overbearing, ill-mannered, and without any respect for their parents. They are sure that their children are old grumps because they object to Johnny breaking "four windows when he is in a playful mood. They are sure that Tommy's teachers give him bad marks because they have a spite against the little school that Bobby doesn't mean anything when he is caught spilling cream from the fruit stand on the corner.

"As you sow so shall you reap" is nowhere else so inexorably true as in the rearing of children. Bring them up as you are, and they will be as you are. If you are a foolish mother, they will be foolish. If you are a kind mother, they will be kind. If you are a man or woman who is a failure in life, who is a wastrel, who is a work-lazy, without knowing that he or she was a spoiled child whose mother ruined him or her.

We often wonder why fathers take so little active part in rearing their children, and why, when they see their children ruined by a foolish mother, they don't do something to avert the tragedy. The answer is furnished by such women as your sister. Every time Father tries to correct little Johnny and make Mary behave, Mother rushes to their defense. A scene ensues that leaves the child triumphant over his naughtyness and Father and Mother not on speaking terms for days.

The man knows that his wife is wrong; that she is fostering over him and weakness in the child's character; that she is spoiling his life of an education and chance in the world; that she is alienating the child from him, making him believe that Father is the alienating child. He goes to school when he doesn't want to, and who will let him have three slices of pie, and that Mother is his only friend. But after a few battles with his mother, the man grows up trying to have any authority over the children and sacrifices them to peace in the family.

But it doesn't make him love the wife who is ruining the children who he loves as well as she does.

as it will accumulate the length of her life. And the tall girl will appear even taller if she adopts it.

HOUSE REPLY DOESN'T JIBE WITH PAPERS

Premier Is Queried Over Dealings With John Hargrave

Participation of John Hargrave in preparation of a plan of Social Credit for this province, produced a brief discussion in the legislature Monday.

Mr. Duggan introduced the subject drawing the attention to the difference in a newspaper report of the answer to a question put by him to Premier William Aberhart, in the question appearing in the journals of the house and the answer to the same ques-

THE QUESTION

The question, asked by Mr. Dugan on March 11 was as follows:

"Did one, John Hargrave, assist the government or the special committee appointed to prepare a plan of Social Credit, in the preparation of any plan or plans of Social Credit?"

Quoting from a newspaper, Mr. Dugan read the Premier's reply in the house, that the question was "too ambiguous." This was his own journal of the house carried the reply as being "No."

The Premier here again stated that his answer remained as "too ambiguous."

Mr. Duggan then asked that the journals be corrected to conform to this answer.

HARGRAVE ANSWER

Mr. Duggan said that he had entered into communication with Mr. Hargrave regarding the question and had received a reply to the question under review that he had submitted a plan. Other answers were similar to those given by the Premier.

Although he did not read the list of questions and answers in the British Mr. Duggan...

QUESTIONS KNOWN,
from Mr. Hargrave being as follows:

Q.—Did you assist the Alberta government committee prepare a plan of Social Credit?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you sign an initial plan?

A.—I signed final report planning committee, dated Jan. 8.

Q.—Did members of the committee sign or initial same plan?

A.—All members of committee, Cross, Fallow, Maynard, Ansley, signed same report, and I have duplicated copy signed by them and self.

THANK FOR FRIENDLY AID

With his neighbors co-operating as only good neighbors can, Jim Coler, returned soldier farmer, whose home in the Middletown district was completely destroyed by fire over two weeks ago, will soon be back on his own feet, a self-sustaining member of the community, able and willing to look after his wife and two children.

Bulletin readers and sympathizers, and the co-operation of his neighbors, the family will soon be occupying a new fifty-foot home on their own farm, comfortably furnished, and with their wardrobe to some extent replenished.

"Thanks to my neighbors and the Bulletin readers I'll be able to carry on," said Cline. "I cannot express my own sentiments or those of my family. We have been deeply touched by the sympathy shown us by many who are entire strangers, and our thanks go out to all of them."

SEATTLE, March 16. — Police Judge William Bell today ordered no-parking signs changed after F. Wagner, a motorist, successfully defended parking in front of a sign which read "No parking from eight a.m. to 12 p.m."

"Is 12 p.m. noon or midnight?" Wagner asked.

"I don't know," said the Magistrate.

"Go that I rent my car," he said.

Wagner triumphantly, he was dismissed. Encyclopaedias said there was no such thing as 12 p.m.

The shell of the cuttlefish is located under the skin of the back. This product is often hung up in bird cages, that the birds may peck at it and obtain grit. Before the invention of blotting paper, powdered cuttle-bone was used to absorb wet ink.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

By Edson

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DAPHNE SMITH, about twenty years old, New York advertising executive, has been married to LARRY SMITH, a young, attractive, and successful young man, for some time. Daphne has one sister, a young woman, JENNIFER, who is just now from college and at her first job.

Joe Jennifer reports Daphne's guidance and proceeds to date, whom she likes. Daphne informs her parents, protesting against Tuck's unrequited love. Then Daphne, soon after, Jennifer, defying her instructions, accepts a date with Tuck's young set. It is a crisis in the general relationship of the sisters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

LARRY SMITH slipped his hand under the great collar of Daphne's coat and pulled it around her ears. Then he whistled for a taxi. It was the tenth taxi he had tried to get. And the wind tore through dark street but Daphne didn't feel it.

"Let's walk," she said, "we'll never get one with this theatre crowd. My place is only a few blocks."

"You don't think I'm going to let you go home, do you? We're seeing the town, young lady. TALK!" They laughed because they had started across the slippery pavement to triumphantly capture the prize, they continued to laugh. They'd been laughing all evening. Daphne remembered, laughing over nothing. She laughed because he told her that when he was a little boy he had wanted to be a house wrecker when he grew up and had decided that was the beginning of his wish to be an architect.

And he had laughed because she confessed that she used to wear her mother's gloves and pretended she was a great actress. So they'd both gone on and now they knew more about each other than any other person knew about either of them.

"They talked no longer over their big knuckles and snarled. They'd been late for the theatre and the next day neither of them could have told you what happened at the theatre because, with their eyes on the stage, they'd been aware of nothing but each other."

"Having fun?" he asked. She murmured something that sounded like "Um-m." But he knew. They both knew something that needed no words. They needed nothing but to be together.

They went to the most expensive night club in town and sat looking into each other's eyes. She hadn't heard from him, he said, as though it was important to explain everything to her from now on, because he'd been off on a business trip. His uncle, in whose firm and whose footsteps he was one day to follow, was bidding for construction jobs in a midwest exposition.

"Do you often go far away for such a long time?" she asked and felt suddenly bereft, as though loneliness in the future was already weighing her down.

THE KEYSTONE IS NOT A MODERN IDEA IN BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

"Perhaps you'll be glad to have me leave now and realize how much of you I want to see."

Her eyes denied it. He said, "Don't we've got to arrange our program?" He had already told her that the Smiths would like to stay on at the Ball, his "old girl," as he called them, refused to be moved unless Daphne wanted the place for herself.

Daphne was only too glad of the extra money it was helping to meet the new need for Jennifer.

"Are we going to have a program?" If anyone other than Larry had said that, she'd have dismissed the idea immediately. She was too busy—knew too many people—to permit any one else to assume that he had a right to make plans for her.

But Larry wasn't any one person. We'll have to discover what plays you want to see. And how you feel about winter sports—

What she wanted! Later Daphne would wrap herself in the warm comfort of what that meant, his complete regard for the things that would make her happy. Now she was content to listen.

"And what about love? And the six-day bicycle race?" "Love them both," she responded promptly. But if he had had the you like to stand for hours watching men exercising! she'd have said it was her favorite pastime.

"We'll do them all. Let's begin with a new show on Saturday. Sunday, if it's clear, we might try skating and later we'll go—"

"Wait a minute," Daphne implored, laughing. "Is Thursday now and Saturday and Sunday are so nearly here. Aren't you rushing?"

"Certainly," he said, "but I'm twenty-eight years old and up to now my life has been mislaid. I've got to make up for those years."

There was wonder in Daphne's eyes that looked back into his and into the year ahead.

This has never happened to me before, Daphne thought. I must be careful because anything that can open such doors to my life should not feel of coming home—can't.

The years ahead unfolded before her and longed for her to gaze on what they could mean. Not just the early happy laughing years, but those quiet years rolling on and weaving a lasting tapestry of the life of a man and a woman and their children.

It frightened her that she dared to think of them. That she, who had been trained to responsibility, to clear, conservative thinking, to guarding herself against anything that over her first time alone with Larry Smith and she could rush headlong into such conjecture, was a little frightened.

Later she would straighten it out with herself. Now, she could sip her drink and give herself to the moment.

"Saturday it is," she said. She thought of Jennifer's method of "kissing on the sash."
